

DART Privacy Policy

Introduction

DART (we, us, our) uses the following privacy policy. Personal information is information about an identifiable natural person.

This policy sets out how we will collect, use, disclose and protect your personal information.

We may change this policy by uploading a revised policy onto the website. The change will apply from the date that we upload the revised policy.

From whom do we collect your personal information?

We collect personal information about you from:

- you, when you provide that personal information to us including via our website and any related service, through any registration or subscription process, through any contact with us (e.g. telephone call or email), or when you buy or use our services and products,
- third parties where you have given us prior written authority or the information is publicly available.

Using your personal information

We may use your personal information to:

- verify your identity and bank account in the event you are successful in our crypto challenge,
- provide services and products to you,
- offer services and products to you if you agree, and to not offer services and products to you if you do not agree,
- improve the services and products that we provide to you,
- undertake credit checks of you if necessary,
- bill you and collect money that you owe us, including authorising and processing credit card transactions,
- respond to communications from you, including a complaint,
- optionally conduct research and statistical analysis on an anonymised basis,
- protect and/or enforce our legal rights and interests, including defend any claim.

Disclosing your personal information

We may disclose your personal information to:

- a person who requires us in writing and under applicable law to supply your personal information. We will supply such information only to the extent required by law. Alternatively and at our expense and discretion we may seek judicial review of any such requirement,
- any other person authorised in writing to us by you.

Protecting your personal information

We will take reasonable steps to keep your personal information safe from loss, unauthorised access or use, or other misuse.

Accessing and correcting your personal information

You have the right to access your personal information that we hold and to request a correction to it. Before you exercise this right, we will need good evidence to confirm that you are the individual to whom the personal information relates.

In respect of a request for correction, if we think the correction is reasonable and we are reasonably able to change the personal information, we will make the correction and notify you when this is done. If we do not make the correction, we will take reasonable steps to note on the personal information the content of your requested correction and that you requested the correction.

If you want to exercise either of the above rights, email us at our published email address or via the contact form on our Web site. Your email should provide evidence of who you are and state what you regard as the existing information, and the correction that you are requesting.

We may charge you reasonable costs of providing to you copies of your personal information or correcting that information if you request the copies.

Internet Use

While we take reasonable steps to maintain secure internet connections, if you provide us with personal information over the internet, the provision of that information is at your own risk.

If you post your personal information on our website, you acknowledge and agree that the information you post is publicly available.

If you follow a link on our website to another site, the owner of that site will have its own privacy policy relating to your personal information. We recommend that you review that site's privacy policy before you provide personal information to that site.

At present cookies need to be enabled in order to login, but otherwise cookies are not used. You may disable cookies by changing the settings on your browser, although this may mean that you cannot use all of the features of the website.